

From Runway signal testing to live exploit-chain evaluation

The fellowship work keeps the white-box measurement stack and replaces the static role-label setup with controlled, action-grounded trajectories.

We moved from detecting an assigned-role signal in static prompts to tracing a controlled indirect injection through live multi-agent runs.